TRIMBLE

from Mrs. Henry Black.

James Trimble, who settled on lot 5, concession 3, in 4573

1821. (Chinguacousy West) was born in 1803. His wife was Sarah Alexander of the County Armagh Ireland. They raised a family of eight boys and three girls, the descendants of whom are now scattered all over the province, and quite a number are in the western provinces. He died in 1847 aged 44 years. After his widow's death in 1862, the farm descended to their son Alexander Trimble who was born in 1837. In 1863 he married Margaret Langtry whose parents also came from Ireland and settled in Dufferin County. He died in 1896, aged 59. At his widow's death in 1903, the farm came to his younger son Benjamin F. Trimble, who still owns it, though not living on it. A daughter of Alexander Trimble, Miss Hannah E. Trimble lives in the old home which is being worked by Alexander R. Black, the son of another daughter Mary A. Black, whose home is also located on the place.

Drove Sir John

To Last Meeting

4577

Following the funeral of the late Henry Black, on Saturday last, Fred Ellison recalled an experience in the life of the deceased which was often referred to by him. Like his father, Mr. Black was an expert horseman. Forty-five years ago, Sir John Macdonald visited Brampton,—on February 21st, 1891,—the closing of his last political campaign. He was met at the Grand Trunk Station by the town band and the stalwarts of the party, who formed a torchlight procession, and escorted him to the court house, where the meeting was held. Mr. Black, then a young man, felt it a very great honor to drive the four white horse team and double-seated sleigh that bore the "Old Chief-tain" in triumph through the streets. "W h a t marvellous changes, political and otherwise, have taken place in Canada in the 45 years that have elapsed since that event," was the remark of one to whom the incident was recalled.
